Frequently Asked Questions on Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States (Updated July 21, 2017)

Release Date: June 29, 2017

Updated Date: July 21, 2017

Previous Releases: June 29, 2017

[NOTE: These are the most current frequently asked questions relating to "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". See previous releases listed above for additional information.]

Q1. Who is subject to the suspension of entry under Section 2(c) of the Executive Order?

Per the Executive Order and the June 14 Presidential Memorandum, the temporary suspension of entry applies, with limited exceptions, only to foreign nationals from Sudan, Syria, Iran, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen, who are outside the United States as of June 26, 2017, who did not have a valid visa at 5:00 p.m. EST on January 27, 2017, and who do not have a valid visa as on 8:00 p.m. EDT on June 29, 2017. Further, the Executive Order does not bar entry for individuals who are excluded from the scope of the temporary suspension of entry under the terms of the Executive Order, who obtain a waiver from the Department of State or U.S. Customs and Border Protection, or who demonstrate that they have a credible claim of a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States, as defined by the Supreme Court's Order of June 26, 2017, and further applicable court orders.

Q2. I am a national from one of the six affected countries currently overseas and in possession of a valid visa, but I have no prior travel to the United States. Can I travel to the United States?

Foreign nationals from Sudan, Syria, Iran, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen who have valid visas will not be affected by this Executive Order. No visas will be revoked based on the Executive Order. But visas may be revoked, or admission may be denied, based on legal requirements independent of the Executive Order.

Q3. I am presently in the United States in possession of a valid single entry visa but I am a national of one of the six impacted countries. Can I travel abroad and return to the United States?

Regardless of the Executive Order, you may not travel abroad and return to the United States on the same visa unless your visa is valid for multiple entries into the United States. While the Executive Order does not apply to those within the United States and your travel abroad is not limited, a valid visa or other document permitting you to travel to and seek admission to the United States is still required for any subsequent entry to the United States. If you were present in the United States on June 26, 2017, the Executive Order will not apply to you when you apply for a subsequent visa. Please refer to the Department of State for additional information pertaining to applying for a new visa.

Q4. I am presently in the United States in possession of a valid multiple entry visa but am a national of one of the six affected countries, can I travel abroad and return to the United States?

Yes. Individuals within the United States with valid multiple entry visas on June 26, 2017, are eligible for travel to and from the United States, provided the visa remains valid and the traveler is otherwise admissible. All foreign nationals traveling with a visa must satisfy all admissibility requirements for entry at the time they seek to enter the United States. Additional information on applying for admission to the United States is available at CBP.gov.

Q5. I am from one of the six countries, currently in the United States in possession of a valid visa and have planned overseas travel. My visa will expire while I am overseas, can I return to the United States?

Travelers must have a valid visa to travel to the United States, regardless of the Executive Order. Travelers who do not have a valid visa due to its expiration while abroad must obtain a new valid visa prior to returning to the United States. If you were present in the United States on June 26, 2017, the Executive Order will not apply to you when you apply for a subsequent visa.

Please refer to the Department of State for additional information pertaining to applying for a new visa.

Q6. If I receive a valid immigrant visa from the Department of State and I am a first-time arrival, will I be allowed to travel to the U.S.?

Yes. Individuals holding valid immigrant visas do not fall within the scope of the Executive Order. Such individuals, however, will be subject to all laws and regulations governing entry into the U.S.

Q7. Will nationals of the six countries with valid green cards (lawful permanent residents of the United States) be allowed to return to the United States?

Per the Executive Order, the suspension of entry does not apply to lawful permanent residents of the United States.

Q8. Will landed immigrants of Canada affected by the Executive Order be eligible for entry to the United States?

Landed immigrants of Canada who hold passports from one of the six countries are eligible to apply for a visa, and coordinate a waiver, at a location within Canada.

Q9. What does granting a waiver under the Executive Order mean? How are waivers applied to individual cases?

Waivers may be available for foreign nationals of the six countries who are not seeking to enter as refugees. Per the Executive Order, the Commissioner of U.S. Customs and Border Protection, who may delegate his authority, and Department of State consular officers can review individual cases and grant waivers on a case-by-case basis if a foreign national demonstrates that his or her entry into the United States is in the national interest, will not pose a threat to national security, and that denying entry during the suspension period will cause undue hardship.

Q10. What is the process for overseas travelers affected by the Executive Order to request a waiver?

Waivers for overseas travelers who are affected by the EO will, if appropriate, be adjudicated by the Department of State. Please refer to the Department of State for additional information.

AIILA Doc. No. 17062935. (Posted 8/1/17)

Q11. Will the Department of Homeland Security and the Department of State be revoking the visas of persons ineligible to travel under the revised Executive Order?

No. Visas will not be revoked based on the Executive Order. Visas may be revoked based on legal requirements independent of the Executive Order. The Department of State has broad authority under Section 221(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to revoke visas.

Q12. Will unaccompanied minors within the scope of the Executive Order be denied boarding and or denied entry into the United States?

The Executive Order applies to those who do not have valid visas and are not otherwise exempt. Any individuals, including children, who seek entry to the United States must have a valid visa (or other approved travel document) before travel to the United States. If it is determined that the Executive Order is not enjoined with respect to a particular individual, a waiver may, if appropriate, be issued on a case-by-case basis when in the national interest of the United States notwithstanding the suspension of entry under the Executive Order.

Q13. Is DHS complying with all court orders?

Yes, DHS is complying with all court orders in effect, and will continue to comply with any and all court orders.

Q14. When will the Executive Order be implemented?

The Executive Order indicated an effective date of 12:01 A.M., Eastern Daylight Time, on March 16, 2017. Before the Order took effect, however, the travel restrictions in Sections 2 and 6 were enjoined by Federal courts in Hawaii and Maryland. Those injunctions were partially stayed by the Supreme Court. Accordingly, pursuant to the June 14, 2017 Presidential Memorandum, agencies began to implement the travel restrictions found in the Executive Order at 8:00 p.m. EDT on June 29, 2017.

Q15. Will the Executive Order impact Trusted Traveler Program membership?

No. Currently, CBP does not have reciprocal agreements for a Trusted Traveler Program with any of the countries designated in the Executive Order. Additionally, citizens or nationals of one of the designated countries who hold lawful permanent resident status and who are Trusted Traveler Program members will not have their membership revoked as a result of the Executive Order.

Q16. When will CBP issue guidance to both the field and airlines regarding the Executive Order?

CBP has issued guidance and contacted stakeholders to ensure timely implementation consistent with the terms of the Executive Order.

Q17. Does this affect travelers at all ports of entry?

Yes, this Executive Order applies to travelers who are applying for entry into the United States at any port of entry—air, land, or sea. Additionally, the Executive Order will be applied to travelers at preclearance locations overseas.

Q18. Does “from one of the six countries” mean citizen, national, or born in?

The Executive Order applies to nationals and citizens of the six countries.

Q19. Can a dual national who holds nationality with one of the six designated countries traveling with a passport from an unrestricted country travel to the United States?

The Executive Order exempts from the entry suspension any dual national of one of the six countries when the individual is traveling on a passport issued by a non-designated country. For information on whether a dual national who holds nationality of one of the six designated countries and is currently overseas can apply for an immigrant or nonimmigrant visa to the United States, please refer to the Department of State about how the Executive Order applies to visa applicants.

Q20. Has CBP issued clear guidance to CBP officers at ports of entry regarding the Executive Order?

CBP has issued and will continue to issue any needed guidance to the field with respect to this Executive Order.

Q21. How will this impact commercial air carriers?

DHS anticipates no operational impact to commercial carriers. Passengers are still required to present a valid visa or other entry document to travel to the United States. Passengers who present a valid visa or other entry document are presumed to be either outside the scope of the Executive Order, to have received a waiver from the travel restrictions, or to be covered by court injunctions. Passengers in possession of a valid visa or other entry document, irrespective of the date of issuance, should be boarded pursuant to the same operational procedures which were in place prior to the Supreme Court decision.

Q22. What coordination is being done between CBP and the carriers?

CBP has been and will remain in continuous communication with the airlines through CBP regional carrier liaisons. In addition,

CBP has held executive-level calls with airlines in order to provide guidance, answer questions, and address concerns.

Q23. What additional screening will nationals of restricted countries (as well as any visa applications) undergo as a result of the Executive Order?

In making admission and visa eligibility determinations, DHS and DOS will continue to apply all appropriate security vetting procedures.

Q24. How are returning refugees and asylees affected by the Executive Order?

Returning refugees and asylees, i.e., individuals who have already been granted asylum or refugee status in the United States, are explicitly excluded from the travel suspension provisions of this Executive Order. As such, they may continue to travel abroad and return to the United States consistent with existing requirements.

Q25. What about refugees who are considered to be “in transit?”

The Executive Order does not apply to refugees who were formally scheduled for transit prior to 8:00 p.m. EDT on Thursday, June 29, 2017. For refugees who are considered to be “in transit,” for whom application of the Executive Order remains enjoined, or for whom a waiver had been granted, the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security have coordinated on the travel of these individuals.

Q26. Are first-time arrival refugees with valid travel documents allowed to travel to the United States?

Yes, but only refugees, regardless of nationality, whose travel was already formally scheduled by the Department of State for transit prior to 8:00 p.m. EDT on Thursday, June 29, 2017, or for whom the Department of State had determined that a waiver is warranted under the Executive Order, or for whom the Executive Order remains enjoined pursuant to the Supreme Court's June 26 order and further applicable court orders, are permitted to travel to the United States and seek admission. Moreover, to promote an orderly implementation of the Supreme Court's July 19, 2017 Order, refugees formally scheduled for transit and arriving on or before Saturday, July 22, 2017 will be allowed to enter the United States, provided they are otherwise eligible for admission. Please refer to the Department of State for additional information.

Q27. Is USCIS continuing to interview refugee applicants for admission?

Yes. However, USCIS officers have been instructed that they should not approve a refugee application unless the officer is satisfied that the applicant's relationship complies with the requirement to have a credible claim of a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States and was not formed for the purpose of evading the Executive Order.

Q28. How is USCIS determining whether a refugee applicant has a relationship to a person in the United States?

The Supreme Court explained, “For individuals, a close familial relationship is required. . . .” A “close family” relationship includes: a parent (including parent-in-law), spouse, child, adult son or daughter, fiancé(e), son-in-law, daughter-in-law, and sibling, whether whole or half. This includes step relationships. Pursuant to the modified injunction issued on July 13, 2017 by the U.S. District Court for the District of Hawaii, a “close family” relationship also includes: grandparents, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins, brothers-in-law, and sisters-in-law. A refugee will be considered to have a credible claim to a bona fide relationship with a person in the United States upon presentation of sufficient documentation or other verifiable information supporting that claim.

Q29. How is USCIS determining whether a refugee applicant has a relationship to an entity in the United States?

The Supreme Court explained, “As for entities, the relationship must be formal, documented, and formed in the ordinary course, rather than for the purpose of evading [the Executive Order].” A refugee will be considered to have a credible claim to a bona fide relationship with an entity in the United States upon presentation of sufficient documentation or other verifiable information supporting that claim.

Q30. Are only refugees from one of the six countries affected prevented from traveling if they do not have a bona fide relationship to a person or entity in the United States?

No. Under the Executive Order as applied pursuant to the Supreme Court's decision, any refugee, regardless of nationality, is prevented from admission to the United States unless he or she has a credible claim to a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States.

Q31. How long will the refugee suspension be in place?

The Executive Order provides for a 120-day suspension of refugee admissions.

Q32. Will refugees with a bona fide relationship to a person or entity in the United States be allowed to be admitted given that the 50,000 ceiling has been reached?

Yes. In its June 26, 2017 opinion, the Supreme Court decided that the injunction with respect to Section 6(b) was stayed in part. The 50,000 ceiling for FY 2017 cannot be enforced against "an individual seeking admission as a refugee who can credibly claim a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States.”

Q33. What is the status of the provision of the Executive Order that directs the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security to review the USRAP application and adjudication processes to determine what additional procedures should be used to ensure that individuals seeking admission as refugees do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States?

This review is underway and DHS, in concert with DOS, law enforcement agencies, and the intelligence community are working together to identify enhanced vetting procedures to ensure program integrity and national security.

Q34. Can certain categories of refugee cases be considered to have a bona fide relationship with a person in the United States?

Yes, certain categories of refugee cases require relationships with close family members in the United States, specifically "Priority 3" cases, Form I-730 (following-to-join) cases and Iraqi and Syrian Priority 2 cases where access is based on an approved Form I-130 (family-based immigrant visa petition). These categories require a close familial relationship that is considered bona fide for purposes of the Supreme Court Order of June 26, 2017.

Therefore, because the relationship has been confirmed in order to fall within the categories listed above, the refugee will be determined to have a credible claim to a bona fide relationship to a person in the United States. Moreover, pursuant to the modified injunction issued on July 13, 2017 by the U.S. District Court for the District of Hawaii, refugees in the Lautenberg program are also not subject to the provisions of Sections 6(a) and 6(b) of the Executive Order.
