Rambana & Ricci, PLLC Immigration Attorneys Selected to the 2019 Seminole 100

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – Rambana & Ricci, PLLC Immigration Attorneys was recognized during Florida State University’s 2nd Annual Seminole 100 Celebration on March 2 at FSU’s University Center Club in Doak Campbell Stadium.

The 2019 Seminole 100, hosted by the Jim Moran Institute for Global Entrepreneurship at the FSU College of Business in partnership with the FSU Alumni Association and EY, recognized the 100 fastest-growing businesses owned by Florida State alumni.

Rambana & Ricci, P.L.L.C., is a Tallahassee-based law firm concentrating on complex immigration legal issues. The company was ranked 91st with a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.24%.

“As an alumnus of Florida State University for both undergraduate and graduate degrees, I feel honored to be part of the Seminole 100 program,” said Rambana. “The education I received at FSU laid the foundation for my career in immigration law, and the university represents a large piece of who I am.”

“The remarkable success of these business owners reflects well on the university, and we are incredibly proud that they are Florida State alumni,” said Melissa Roberts, managing director of the Jim Moran Institute. “Seminole 100 is our way of recognizing entrepreneurial excellence among our alumni, and it helps fulfill Florida State’s goal of becoming a preeminent university that embraces entrepreneurship, creativity and innovation across campus.”

To qualify for the Seminole 100, a company must have been in business for at least three years and generated revenue by January 1, 2015. Additionally, the business must be owned or majority managed by an FSU alumnus for three consecutive years prior to nomination.
