Office of the Citizenship and Immigration Services Ombudsman's Annual Conference

November 22—All Day Event in Washington, D.C.

You are cordially invited to attend the Office of the Citizenship and Immigration Services Ombudsman's 9th Annual Conference at the National Archives Museum in Washington, D.C.

- Come hear morning remarks from State Department Assistant Secretary of Consular Affairs Carl Risch.
- Attend afternoon panels on affirmative asylum, USCIS' new applicant support services, the H-1B program and much more.

Please join us to hear from top U.S. government officials on the leading immigration issues affecting USCIS adjudications and programs. Registration is free but space is limited, so register today!

RSVP for the Ombudsman's Annual Conference

The Ombudsman hosts a monthly public teleconference series to share information about relevant topics and provide an opportunity to hear feedback from the community about issues related to the delivery of immigration benefits and services.
