Amended Petitions

If you are filing this petition to amend a previously filed Form I-140, select Part 2., Item Number 2.a. and provide the receipt number of the previously filed Form I-140 in the space provided. This information will assist USCIS in determining whether we may accept the petition and provide the location of the previously filed petition for case matching purposes.

Information About the Spouse and All Children of the Alien for Whom You Are Filing

Form I-140 requires information about the dependent spouse and children of the alien (petition's beneficiary) in Part 7. Information About the Spouse and All Children of the Alien for Whom You Are Filing. This information will assist in visa processing and help USCIS better determine the demand for employment-based immigrant visas at the time of filing Form I-140.

NOTE: An annotation of a dependent's intention to either apply for adjustment of status or an immigrant visa abroad in Part 7. of Form I-140 is not binding, but should reflect the dependent's intent at the time of filing of Form I-140.

IRS Tax or Social Security Numbers

With the exception of the categories for aliens of extraordinary ability (Part 2., Item Number 1.a. on Form I-140) and NIW (Part 2., Item Number 1.h. on Form I-140), all Form I-140 visa preference categories require a permanent job offer from a U.S. employer and the U.S. employer must file Form I-140.

NOTE: All U.S. employers filing petitions with a required permanent job offer must have and provide an IRS Employer Identification Number or a Social Security Number in Part 1. of Form I-140. If you do not provide this information, USCIS will reject your Form I-140 with a notice that it is deficient.

General Evidence

You must submit all evidence requested in these Instructions with your petition. If you fail to submit required evidence, USCIS may reject or deny your petition in accordance with 8 CFR 103.2(b)(1) and these Instructions.

1. Labor Certification

You must file petitions for certain classifications with an original, individual labor certification from the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) or with documentation to establish that the alien qualifies for one of the shortage occupations designated in Group I or II of DOL's Schedule A. If an individual labor certification is required, you must submit the original, individual labor certification with your Form I-140, unless the original labor certification was already provided to USCIS in support of a different petition. As an alternative, you may select "Yes" for in Part 4., Item Number 10. and ask USCIS to request a duplicate of the original certification from DOL.

A labor certification establishes there are insufficient U.S. workers able, willing, qualified, and available to fill the position offered to the alien at the time when and place where the alien will work. It also establishes the alien's employment, if qualified, will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of similarly employed U.S. workers. Application for labor certification is currently made on Form ETA-9089. Labor certification applications filed before March 28, 2005, were filed on Form ETA-750. If the alien is in a Schedule A, Group I or II shortage occupation, you may file a fully completed, uncertified Form ETA-9089 with your Form I-140 for USCIS to determine if the alien's occupation belongs to the shortage occupation.

See 20 CFR 656 or the DOL website at www.foreignlaborcert.doleta.gov for further information about obtaining an individual labor certification or about Schedule A, Group I or II shortage occupations.

Effective July 16, 2007, all labor certifications expire 180 days from the date of certification. USCIS must receive any Form I-140 based on approved labor certifications before the 180 day validity period has elapsed. In instances where the ending date of the labor certification's validity period expires on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, USCIS will accept petitions with the labor certification on the next business day. USCIS will reject petitions with expired labor certifications filed after the next business day.

2. Ability to Pay Wage

You must submit evidence with petitions requiring job offers that the prospective U.S. employer has the ability to pay the offered wage. You may provide evidence in the form of copies of annual reports, Federal tax returns, or audited financial statements. If the prospective U.S. employer employs 100 or more workers, you may submit a statement from the organization's financial officer establishing their ability to pay the wage. In certain circumstances, you may submit additional evidence, such as profit/loss statements, bank account records, or personnel records.

NOTE: The U.S. employer must show the ability to pay the offered wage from the date of filing the labor certification until the alien becomes a lawful permanent resident. If no labor certification is required with the petition, the U.S. employer must show the ability to pay the offered wage from the date of filing Form I-140 (priority date) until the alien becomes a lawful permanent resident.

3. Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record

If the alien is in the United States, provide the requested information in Part 3., Item Numbers 10. - 15. of Form I-140, as applicable. If U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) or USCIS issued the alien a Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, provide his or her Form I-94 number and date his or her authorized period of stay expires or expired (as shown on Form I-94). The Form I-94 number also is known as the Departure Number on some versions of Form I-94.

NOTE: If CBP admitted you into the United States at an airport or seaport after April 30, 2013, they may have issued the alien an electronic Form I-94 instead of a paper Form I-94. You may visit the CBP website at www.cbp.gov/i94 to obtain a paper version of your electronic Form I-94. CBP does not charge a fee for this service. Some travelers may also be able to obtain a replacement Form I-94 from the CBP website for free if they were admitted to the United States at a land border, airport, or seaport after April 30, 2013, with a passport or travel document and received a paper Form I-94 from CBP. If you cannot obtain your Form I-94 from the CBP website, you may obtain it by filing Form I-102, Application for Replacement/Initial Nonimmigrant Arrival-Departure Record, with USCIS. We do charge a fee for this service. See the USCIS website at www.uscis.gov/i-102, for more information.

Passport and Travel Document Numbers. If you used a passport or travel document to travel to the United States, enter either the passport or travel document information in the appropriate space on the petition, even if the passport or travel document is currently expired.
